RISLEY'S BIG TRIPLE

the Rios.

DEFEATED SHORT LINES

BEST LEAGUE GAME OF THE EARLY SEASON.

Excitement Was Intense When Risley Planted Out the Three-bagger That Tied the Score and Brought in the Winning Run-Ten Innings With a Score of 10-9.

Standing of the Clubs.

Won. Lost. P. C. Rio Grande Western...

Dudley Risley, the meteoric pitcher and third baseman of the Rio Grande Westerns, who has all this season kept pretty little trick he would spring next, yesterday batted out a victory for Dan Hickey's blue stockings when defeat seemed inevitable. The prettiest kind deep garden by the fence did the trick and the Rio Grandes won from the Short Lines the closest game of the early season by a score of 10 to 9.

It all happened in the last of the tenth inning. There were two out and two on bases, and the score was 9 to 8 against the Westerns. The friends of the Short Liners were preparing to leave under the impression that the next man would go the way of the other two, and the way that many of the preceding batters had gone in the previous innings. Risley came up to the stick, spat on his hands and looked real earnest. Twice he made circles in the atmosphere in an ineffectual at-tempt to find the sphere, and the fans, sure enough, thought it was over.

But they lingered just a little to see the finish. It had been a great game all through—a game abounding in sur-prises and pretty plays—and the grandstanders and the bleacherites hardly knew whether or not to believe that it was over. It certainly looked like the Short Line's game, but the fans lin-gered to see the finish.

The Critical Moment.

Risley had struck twice. "This decides the game," muttered a man with a white felt hat and money on the result, as Kimmerer sent one of those twists of his sailing over the plate That is, it started to sail over the plate. but Risley caught it square on the trademark. It soared etherwards until it became almost engulfed in the dark clouds that lowered around the mountains on the south. It went and went and went, and finally landed out dangercusly near the fence, a little east of

In the meantime Martin and Meinicke, who had been waiting on the bases, hoping almost against hope that would not be left there to die had become alive to the great possibili-ties that were before them, and they were doing the express act toward home. They arrived in safety, were greeted with effusion by the folks and were waiting for their benefactor, Risley, to make his appearance at the homestead. But the latter named individual was contented with reaching third base in safety, inasmuch as he had saved the day, and there he

To say that he was the hero of the hour is a hackneyed way of stating a great truth. But he was, and even the Short Liners, who had had all the right in the world to feel that the game was theirs up to the fatal tenth, congratulated him with the rest and said, "That was a great hit used at the right time, Risley, old boy," which helped out the good feeling immensely. It was the fastest, closest game of the early season. The game of a week ago in this city with the Ogden nine was about as pretty a contest as could be wished for, but it did not have the spectacular features that made vesterday's game a skyrocket affair, and in point of excitement and interest it must give way to the more recent con-There were plenty of double plays to keep things going; there was plenty of slugging at the right time and the game was clean all through. How They Played.

The playing of the Rios was up to the standard that they have set this season, and that has placed them at the head of the percentage column, with the exception of some ragged work by the infield in one or two in-Dan Hughey returned to his old place at third base for three innings after his illness, but he plainly showed that he was not in baseball condition, although he handled himself quite well, everything considered. If he increases in playing strength as he regains his health he will doubtless prove to be one of the best of 'em. The Short Lines surprised their best friends by their clean, pretty work. They got only three errors against them in the ten innings, and well practiced team work was evident in every movement. Kimmerer, the new pitcher, demonstrated that he has speed and a mean but rather long drop that was deceptive until the Rios got next. They were disappointed about having the game taken from them when they thought it was their heritage, but they were not discouraged. Nor were their friends, and expressions were numerous to the effect that if a team can play the kind of ball they did yesterday, there need be no fear of their

The game commenced at 3:40 with Miller of the Short Lines at the stick. He placed a sizzler out to Hughey, and that shadow of his former self hastily gathered it unto his manly bosom and placed it over to Shannon before Miller had made the leap down the line to the initial. Waller came up and was presented with transportation gratis, as the respects of Pitcher Pendergraft. While they were thinking about it he stole second. Taylor went down on Shannon's error, and Waller took advantage of the opportunity while Shannon was hunting the ball he missed, to come in home. Kimmerer went out to Shannon on an easy grounder, and Margetts handed out a single, bringing in Taylor. Barnes got to first on Hughey's error, and Bowman went out for the Rios, but they got two runs in after two were out in the fourth. Martin had struck out and Meinicke had walked and had been caught between third and home by Miller and Bowman. Shannon lined out a single, Risley followed with another. Donovan went down on the play that retired Meinicke, with a sacrifice bunt, as he had been told to do by the power on the bench, but also hit himself in hitting the ball, and was let out. Barnes advanced Kimmerer another by a nice hit, and Bowman got to first on Miller's error, which also scored Kimmerer. Griggs Hit That Won the Game For the Rios.

Which also scored Rhimmerer. Griggs batted Barnes in, and McFarland followed with a double that put Griggs on third. Miller fouled out to Seare, and Waller singled Griggs in. Taylor then filed out to Burns, and the side was retired with a total of six runs as against their corporates, two series and the side was retired with a total of six runs as was retired with a total of six runs as against their opponents' two.

Nothing happened in the fifth with the Rios, but in the sixth they did a little to help things along. Shannon had flied out to Miller, and Risley had gotten to first on Margetts' error. He stole second and Donovan put him on third with a single. Then up came Burns, who put a nice little slow sacrifice down to Margetts and got Risley in. Seare used one of those timely hits in. Seare used one of those timely hits of his and Donovan scored. Pendergraft went out to Miller.

Three Empty Innings.

The sixth, seventh and eighth were fruitless to the Shorts. In the ninth they scored two runs that brought their total up to eight. The runs were made by Barnes and Bowman, Barnes' tally being made on a hit by Griggs and Bowman coming in because of an error that Seare committed.

It was in the seventh that the Rios made their big haul, bringing in four big runs, while the crowd was wondering what was happening and the Short Liners were getting their balance. Hopkins, Meinicke, Shannon and Risley were the ones who scored, and the score was a tie. It continued so until the end of the ninth, being at that time eight to eight.

Westerns, who has all this season kept the fans guessing as to what new and in the tenth and started things nicely with a single. Taylor followed with a double that sent Waller in home, but Taylor, like Caesar, was ambitious and got caught between second and seemed inevitable. The prettiest kind third trying to make it a triple. But of a gilt-edged triple away out in the they were ahead, and things looked like the game was theirs. Kimmerer got to first on Meinicke's error. Margetts followed with a sizzler to Bill Martin, who was thinking hard at the time, but who gathered it in and put Kimmerer out on the way to second. Barnes put one just like it out to Risey and Margetts met Kimmerer's fate.

There was nothing that presaged a victory for the Rios in the last of the tenth. Hopkins pasted a sky scraper out to Griggs, who had been waiting nine innings for something of that kind. Martin walked and Meinicke put him on second by a hit that landed the long produce man safely on the initial. Shannon fouled out to Bow-man, and it looked dark for the Rios. Risley made the sky bright by his triple, and the game ended amid the cheers of the spe tors.

Our academy came to Salt Lake in good faith, prepared to act on this condition and presented a list of their contestants countersigned by the registrar of the institution as being ona fide students. When the University of Utah presented its list, which was done till a late hour, there peared the names of two students from Cedar City. Naturally the academy students were surprised at so barefaced a piece of trickery and objected to these men. The argument that they were students of the university, by virtue of being enrolled in the branch normal game. Attendance, 7,300. Score: at Cedar City, was regarded as a mere subterfuge, and as betraying a desperate state of things on the U. of

The adademy has branch institutions in Beaver, Vernal, Ephraim, Arizona and Mexico. Would the U. of U. have tolerated a selection from all these schools, under the condition named in their letter? As a matter of fact these very men recently had a contest with the Beaver branch of the academy and were defeated. The victors of that school might have been included in the academy list, had the academy consented to any such double dealing; but we came here to put up a fair and square contest, according to the terms of the agreement. When the U of U committee there-fore declared that unless the Cedar men were not permitted to enter the contest would be declared off the academy could not, as a matter of honor, do otherwise than withdraw.

We withdrew because we regard the Queen Citys of Mt. Pleasant and the We withdrew because we regard the holding up of a principle of honor greater than any victory we might have gained through truckling to un-

We argued with the Provo boys from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. and of-fered to enter Mi'ne and Foster under protest and leave the matter to an arbitration committee or the courts for a decision after the contest. But they were obdurate and even turned down our offer to hold out Milne and Foster if they would hold out their second

Meet Again Today. If the beautiful exhibition of ball provided yesterday by the Short Lines and the Rio Grandes can be taken as any criterion, the game that is to be blayed between them today ought to be another pretty contest. The teams are so evenly matched that the fans can expect good ball whenever they meet, and if the weather is anything like it ought to be today, the biggest crowd of the season will deviltes be crowd of the season will doubtless be out. The game starts promptly at 3:30 out. The game stat Walker's park.

The maich that was to have been played today between the Blue church of this city and the Live Oaks of Bingham for the benefit of the afflicted at Scoffeld has been postponed until next Sunday. The followers of Josh Davis of this city say that the game will not be played because of the fact that the great game that the two league teams have on would have a tendency, they were afraid, toward drawing their crowd. But the Live Oaks aver differ-ently. They say that the men of this city are afraid of them, and have issued the following defiant statement:
"Bingham, May 12.

"To the Baseball players of the Blue Church, Salt Lake:
"When the church whose name you bear issued a challenge to the Live Oaks of Bingham to play a game of baseball for the benefit of the Scofield relief fund we believed you were in earnest, but we now find upon the Mother Eve of the day of the contest that you are treated. that you are not ready. The inference is plain-you are afraid, and should paint vour church some other color. Should vou conclude to change your paint we will meet von at any point between Portland, Me., and Portland, Ore., upon two days' notice, or we will throw open the Live Oak park with free transportation to all; the umpire to take a degree in each order, upon the ground or in the year, so that his decisions will be impartial. Show faith in your church and run no more bluffs. "LUKE CLUGGISON, of Live Oaks. The wholesale and retail butchers are making mighty preparations for the game that they will play at Walker's park tomorrow: Nearly every member of the union has taken it upon himself to get out and sell a number of tickets to help the good cause along, as all of the money goes to the Scofield sufferers. The sore and inflamed spots are healed, and the lining of the organ is restored to its wonted tone and healthy condition.

Under this plan healing drugs quiet the sore and inflamed spots that have been throwing out quantities of sticky, slimy mucous that is mixed with the food and has coated it over, thus preventing the gastric juices from dissolving and digesting it.

When once healed the lining of the stomach is enabled to serve the purpose that nature intended it to serve.

The hawking and spitting in the morning becomes less, the appetite for breakfast returns, the heartburn and waterbrash pass away, the bloating in the stomach af-ter taking food gives place to the pleasant sense of fullness and accompanies the taking of a full meal.

The foul gases that were belched up are no longer formed and the bowels become regular. The entire system experiences new vigor from the abundance of nourishament absorbed into the blood, where foul poisons had previously been of-
